HIS FLAG STILL UP.

Hughes Told Audience in Los Angeles Last Night.

Los Angeles, Aug. 22.—Charles E. Hughes told an audience in the Shriners' auditorium here last night that he had not "hailed down the flag" he put up in New York.

"We have had periods when the public interest in this country was ignored; when it was derided, and not safeguarded by law," he said.

"I am glad those periods are past. I believe they have passed. I believe there is a new sentiment abroad in this land which recognizes the interests of communities and that there is a sentiment which demands protection of the interests of the communities against all spoliation, against conspiracies and against combination of every sort. I am against every abuse of community interests for the sake of private advantage. I did something in New York along that line, and I haven't changed my mind a bit in regard to it."

"I also believe that regulation and supervision by the government is a mockery unless it is just and square with the facts. I put that flag up in New York also, and I never hauled it down—and I never propose to."

"I would have it understood that we have passed the day when we had to restrict what was legitimate in order to crush out what was illegitimate and unfair and illegal. We can protect ourselves against every kind of monopolistic practices without meddling."

"We must not scoff at that which makes possible and expands trade. We must not out where there is abuse, and cut in order that we may prepare the way for healthy action."

"While we cannot live by surgery alone, we can live if we have surgery, clean, skillful; surgery where necessary, and that is to build up and make the patient healthy, to set him on his feet, to clear the path for his success."

Mr. Hughes spoke before his second audience of the night at the Shriners' auditorium. The first was an overflow crowd that stretched from curb to curb of the wide street outside for nearly a block.

In his brief address to the overflow crowd the nominee reiterated his views on the tariff, preparedness, dominant Americanism, and industrial co-operation.

Inside the auditorium the nominee faced an audience of which one-half were women. Half of the 300 members of the reception committee, seated on the platform, it was officially announced, were Progressives, the others Republicans.

Careless picnickers at the city park on the Merchant street extension are to have their outings proscribed unless there is a change in the tactics pursued by some of the merry-makers who gather there. Throughout the summer the park commissioners have willingly consented to let family parties and others use the grounds for picnic purposes, and invariably care has been taken to leave the grounds in good condition. Recently, however, picnickers have left the bars down, released horses and cows tethered in the pasture, and deposited many of the seedlings planted on the slopes. Only a few days ago, a small area of transplants was denuded, and if the carelessness continues, 3,500 little trees will be uprooted or trampled down. The park commissioners are anxious to have the park used for outing purposes, but will post the grounds against trespassing if visitors there continue to abuse the privileges extended them.

An Overland touring car with a number which corresponds to that of a Warren car, as given by those who gathered soon after the accident occurred, figured in a mix-up Sunday night in the hollow near the McFarland water works between South Main street and South Barre. The Overland car was southbound when it met a Buick roaster northbound coming at about the same speed. On turning out, the car was driven too close to the bank and the driver, in trying to steer it to the other side of the road, ran into a telephone pole, bending the fender and axle in bad shape. The car was hauled to a local garage, where it was overhauled yesterday.

The sick man, who lives at the home of Mrs. Margaret Ross, was somewhat unsettled by the turn of events, but acquaintances who gathered around him while the firemen were doing their duty were not apprehensive of a relapse. The house is owned by Mr. Deslites and the other tenant is Peter Cassidy.
